Military Deployment Waiver Application

Military Deployment Status definition:

Military Deployment status is an active, probationary, status of a certificate. Certificants who are able to show proof of being called to overseas active duty assignment(s), will not be required to obtain continuing education hours, but will be required to remit annual dues during the time of the overseas active duty assignment(s). Certificants who are approved for NMTCB Military Deployment Status will be required to sign this waiver stating that they are unable to obtain Continuing Education hours while on active duty and include the date of return to the United States from an assignment overseas. For a military certificant who wishes to return to the NMTCB status of "active and in good standing," he/she must abide by the following:

The military certificant must submit a request in writing, to return to the NMTCB status of "active and in good standing." In this letter, he/she must include the expected date of return to the United States. From that date forward, the certificant will be required to submit the remaining CE hours prorated for his/her CE cycle. For instance, if the certificant took his/her initial NMTCB exam during an even-year and he/she returns from active overseas duty 6 months into his/her CE cycle, then he/she will owe 18 CE hours by the end of his/her cycle (December 31 of the odd year).

During the approved military waiver period, the certificant will be classified as "active" in the NMTCB registry and he/she will continue to be responsible for compliance with all NMTCB policies related to certificants. The certificant will receive a certification card which states that he/she is "ACTIVE", and he/she will continue to receive the NMTCB newsletter.
